Material Handling Regulations & Best Practices: Servers and Server Racks

To ensure the safe and secure transport, handling, and installation of server equipment and server racks, please adhere to the following guidelines:

Shipping & Crating Requirements

Proper Crating: All server and rack equipment must be professionally crated for transport. Crates should:

- Be durable and secure for over-the-road travel.
- Have clearly marked forklift pick points on all applicable sides.
- Allow for easy access when lifting with equipment.

Carrier Selection: Use a qualified carrier experienced in high-value, sensitive freight. Carriers should:

- Provide air ride trailers for shock-sensitive equipment.
- Use proper load strapping and bracing inside the trailer to prevent movement during transit.

Onsite Handling

Uncrating & Crating at Booth: The uncrating and re-crating of server racks at the booth should be performed under the supervision of a company representative familiar with the equipment.

T3 Expo Labor Support (if needed): If T3 labor is required for unpacking or packing server equipment:

- Complete the Display Labor & Forklift Order Form.
- Note any special equipment needs such as forklifts, straps, dollies, or shackles to safely handle the equipment.

Labeling

- Use only the special server labels provided in the Exhibitor Kit for shipments sent to showsite.
- Use the “Server Empty” storage labels for any cases or materials related to server hardware that are to be stored during the event.

Additional Notes

- Clearly communicate any handling sensitivities or special instructions with your carrier and the onsite logistics team in advance.
- Ensure a representative is onsite during freight arrival, uncrating, and repacking to oversee handling and ensure proper care.
